Sprout vacations for young adults residing in Manhattan

- 2016 -

sprout 270 W. 96th Street 2nd Floor New York, NY 10025 phone: 212-222-9575 fax: 212-222-9768 web: www.GoSprout.org

Sprout is a private, not-for-profit organization, founded in 1979, that provides travel and recreation opportunities to individuals with developmental & intellectual disabilities.

Through a contract with the Metro NY DDRO, Sprout will provide vacations to young adults with developmental disabilities. We will be offering a 5-day (Monday through Friday) vacation during the 2016 NYC School Holiday break MON 4/25/16- FRI 4/29/16. We will serve 10 individuals from Manhattan per trip, with no cost to the families involved.

We are looking for candidates for this program. Sprout can support young adults that are 14 - 21 years of age, moderate to high functioning, non-blind, ambulatory and able to function within the group ratio of 10 participants to three Sprout leaders. Participants must be residents of Manhattan who live with their families and have a primary diagnosis of a developmental disability.

Groups will travel by 15 passenger van. We will offer pick-up and drop-off points in Manhattan. Departures will take place at 10:30am on Monday and the group will return five days later at 5:00pm Friday. We would like input from participants for future destinations.

This is an exciting opportunity for all persons involved and we are looking forward to providing a wonderful vacation experience to young adults who may never have traveled before. Interested applicants must submit a Sprout Participant Information Form, a medical report and current psychological evaluation.

Please feel free to contact Andy Lee, Sprout's Program Director, at 212-222-9575 or andy@gosprout.org with any questions or concerns.
