PROMISE

 - NYS Education Department • Department of Labor
 - NYS Commission for the Blind • Department of Health
 - New York Employment Services System • Office of Temporary and Disability Assistance • Office for People With Developmental Disabilities
 - Developmental Disabilities Planning Council

The NYS PROMISE is an exciting new opportunity for families with 14–16 year old teens who receive SSI—making sure they are ready for adult living, learning and earning.

The NYS PROMISE is funded by the U.S. Department of Education. It is a partnership of several state agencies and Cornell University, and will identify the best ways to support teens who receive SSI in achieving their full potential. The project will be available in three areas of the state, including: Western New York, Capital Region, and New York City.

2,000 families will be able to enroll in NYS PROMISE, and it's FREE.

NYS PROMISE will help improve services so that all youth who receive SSI achieve their full academic potential, prepare for and find jobs that fit their skills, abilities, and interests, and access other supports to assist them and their families toward greater financial independence.

NYS PROMISE is designed especially for young people with special needs who receive SSI—helping them understand the world of work, what they like to do, and how to find a place that brings out their best; a place where they can earn a paycheck.

NYS PROMISE will provide extra services for 1,000 students and families throughout these three areas: Western New York, Capital Region, and New York City.

Another group of 1,000 students will receive the transition services they are eligible for through their Individual Education Plans (IEP) and in the community, and they will receive gift cards for participating in occasional surveys to check in on how they are doing with preparing for adulthood.
